3 PW belong to the 1553d Veterinary Co, 553d Div.

PW got separated from their unit in Armaucourt five days ago. They were sent out on horseback to look over the area and see which villages were in German and which were in American hands. They were captured SE of Armaucourt. They say they saw neither German nor American soldiers till their time of capture.

The Veterinary Co has a strength of 90 men. There is one such company in the division.

PW were also told to scout the area for any horses they may find.

PW is one of 23 guards who guarded the ammunition dump east of Leyr. He states that trucks used to bring the ammo from a larger ammo dump situated at St-Avoid, some 100 km away in Alsace. The ammunition was brought from there until recently and PW believe that the dump at St-Avoid is still there.
